The Elements: Reckless Conduct Endangering Life

1. The accused engaged in conduct;
2. The accused's conduct was voluntary;
3. The accused's conduct endangered another person's life;
4. The accused acted recklessly; and

5. The accused acted without lawful authority or excuse.

Read the first paragraph of the link Simon put above re Remdesivir . The last sentence of this SMDS says that Remdesivir has only been played out in animal studies ... the use of this poison displays the lack of research these condescending doctors do . Stage 3 animal trials is certainly not the green light to go ahead with humans . Provisional approval or not the TGA has a major reaming to look forward to as people begin to shifting their personal health responsibility on the seesaw .
