Good news about a little known law "Medicines Australia" has a very important law that is little known Only a qualified doctor is allowed to put in a complaint.

The law is called the
"Foreign corrupt practices act"

19:18:07 From Tess to Everyone:

The law does apply to Australian pharmaceutical companies and their CEOs etc If a company agrees to manufacture a product that has fraudulent safety research data or data that considers medical malfeasance then this is corrupt practices as the patent and owner is paying patent owners royalties also known as kickbacks

If a company agrees to manufacture a product were fraudulent research has taken place particularly where monies go to the patent owner then this is "corrupt practices."

19:18:19 From Tess to Everyone:

It applies to doctor's immunisation clinics Immunization mobile clinics schools where the vaccine might have been administered hospitals specialists' paediatricians

So, we need to understand who is Medicines Australia 🌟. This law has big teeth and there can be really big fines 🌟 The ACCC can become involved and freedom of information is useful By Manufacturing we also need to see if that involves importing and distribution.

Fines can be as much as quarter of $1 million. So, if you had a group of doctors and each one was fined that's a huge fine for a company.

In opening remarks, some mention was made about pollution causing deaths. The ABC TV morning news said that the pollution in Melbourne is causing 10,000 deaths a year, and said this is ten times Australia's road toll. (I think road toll is about 1500.) The news item was comparing with country areas of Victoria, by inference. Good for country town residents, anyway; like at Rainbow and Warracknabeal with Tony Clarke, and Nevenka and me at Peachester . Gerry.

United Nations is one of the most corrupt organisations in the world. Kim Goguen explains the structure and what it means today. The real reason that the UN was created was to govern the governance globally of all member countries. If you are a citizen that is a member of the UN, you are now a slave and a citizen under UN governance. In every country, governments report to the order, not to congress. The UN is planning for WHO to take over full control of all health systems. However, their power structure is crumbling. www.unitednetwork.tv 23 Feb broadcast.
