18:59:52 From Caroline & Guy to Everyone:

where is Ines?

19:02:31 From Rosie to Everyone:

I've given up on matchmaking - too many people are so fussy I wouldn't introduce my good friends to them hahaha

19:02:55 From Dee Cee to Everyone:

Where is Ines?

19:03:00 From Caroline & Guy to Everyone:

The big day is on Wednesday

19:04:11 From Caroline & Guy to Everyone:

John you can eat online

19:07:58 From Julie B to Everyone:

It is not just fluoride. I use a water distiller and put the dregs in a jar. It is disgusting! Heavy metal smell.

19:08:58 From JOC to Everyone:

Fluoride is part of the Halide family Very harmful to your thyroid function

19:09:36 From John & Ines to Everyone:

Flouride is a by product of the fertiliser industry

19:12:13 From Elaine to Everyone:

What is the best water filter to take out fluoride and aluminium etc. Elaine

19:12:25 From John & Ines to Everyone:

a carbon filter

That's fantastic Dee Cee ! You mob is the best in the world 🌍 🙌

19:19:53 From Rosie to Everyone:

today I went out for a coffee and every single customer there paid cash ... it's so good to see

19:20:41 From Charles V to Everyone:

AMCAL Chemists and AMPOL are pushing very hard to go cashless

19:20:55 From Susanne to Everyone:

Could you explain where this will be happening please Dee See? Thx, sorry I'm still new and getting used to the amazing fast flow of info xx

19:21:29 From Elaine to Everyone:

Sale in Gippsland has a Community Market where you can take vegs and have coffee. Near the pool & tennis courts. Elaine

19:21:45 From Susanne to Everyone:

thx

19:22:27 From Julie B to Everyone:

What if we go in and fill up a basket to the value of $300 - $500 and when they refuse cash, we leave it on the counter!

19:22:47 From John & Ines to Everyone:

have you stopped drinking Julie

19:22:48 From Julie B to Everyone:

I wanted to go to see Joe Dispenza but unfortunately, it sold out early.

19:23:13 From Rosie to Everyone:

I attended a CPD for lawyers on CBDCs this week - the legal problems are huge and lawyers are acknowledging that the rules are ridiculous - reporting to AUSTRAC, ATO implications, limiting spending to digital wallets with super low balances etc - digital currency does not look good in practice

Wonderful, Julie B. Thanks

19:40:31 From Gerard to Everyone:

In the 1974 Federal election, which was 18 months into Gough Whitlam's prime ministership, the ballot paper in Victoria or NSW had, I think 106 candidates for the Senate. That might have been NSW, and Vic maybe 90 candidates for the Senate. All boxes needed to be marked, with numbers from 1 to 105 (one less than last, as last could be 'assumed'. On the table I did scrutineering, some 90% of mistaken voters were ALP intending voters. I made sure the Liberals, of which I am a member, were told that this is manifestly unfair to intentions. Consequently, the later Fraser Government of Liberals amended the electoral act so that 1 could be placed above the line, or a voter could fill out all below the line. Gerry.

19:46:26 From Julie B to Everyone:

You will see in the book that Dr. Sha had studied and earned a medical degree in Western medicine, a doctorate of traditional Chinese medicine, including Chinese herbs, acupuncture, and Chinese massage (Tui Na) in his native country of China, as well as a certified doctorate of traditional Chinese medicine and acupuncture in British Columbia, Canada.

Dr. Sha was also a grandmaster of Tai Chi, Qi Gong, kung fu, I Ching, and feng shui. In China such experts are given the honorific of Master.

Dr. Sha was therefore both Dr. and Master Sha. He was not born with either title but merited both.
