Last year I hav an operation in Wollongong Hospital and was asked on the day by the nurse doing the paperwork "Do you give permission for a transfusion of blood if needed during surgery?" I said "As long as it's unvaccinated blood". You should have seen the look on the nurse's face. She said "Oh, I'll have to refer that to my supervisor". I said don't worry it's ok as it won't be needed. If I caused an issue, my surgery would have been halted.
