Most people who are admitted to hospitals are not in a condition to photograph any forms, it has to be the spouse or legal guardian or VCAT representative

2026-02-20 19:40:09 From Julie - Dental Business Mastery to Everyone:

An appointment of medical power of attorney is a legal document where you nominate someone you trust to make medical and health care decisions for you if you are unable to make them yourself.

In Australia, the exact name varies by state. It may be called:

Enduring Power of Attorney for personal or health matters

Enduring Guardian

Medical Treatment Decision Maker

Advance Care Directive, depending on the state or territory

What it generally means:

- You choose a trusted person, often a spouse, adult child or close friend
- They can make decisions about treatment, surgery, life support and care options
- It only applies if you lose decision-making capacity
- It does not usually give them control over your finances, that is a separate document
