Easter is calculated based on the first Sunday after the first full moon following the March equinox

Passover is based on the Jewish lunar calendar, starting on the 15th of the Hebrew month of Nisan

Because both are tied to lunar cycles and spring timing, they tend to overlap or fall within the same week quite frequently.

How often do they coincide?

They overlap or occur very close together most years

They fall on the exact same day less often, roughly every few years to a decade or so

Occasionally, they can be separated by several weeks, depending on how the calendars align

I agree Gary, When I was in Ceduna 3 weeks ago I saw multiple road trains of diesel heading there as they always do. The big 3 oil companies have contracts to supply lots of national trucking companies and Ceduna is a strategic refuelling point for the whole of central Australia. Its a psyop alright Hebrew days are numbered and not named by sun gods and the days start in the evening, eg. Wednesday night is beginning of Thursday and yes He rose on day 1 (Sunday) Easter is derived from the Anglo-Saxon goddess Eastre, goddess of fertility.

Hi All,

A friend text me last night to advise the ABC 7:30 Report had a segment on lack of compensation for people who suffered serious side effects of the Cov.-19 injections. The program has shown just 2 older people - no statistics, no mention of a great range of disabilities and no mention of deaths, but to my knowledge it was the first time that ABC acknowledged some damage by the shots.

I searched YouTube and segment runs for 6mins.

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=5P1_ZG4GV3E

Rgds.

Sharon

P.S. I sent to Ian Brighthope, Dr. Mel McCann, Dr. Chris Neil, Julie Sladden, Rosie Marshall & other friends. Plz watch and share to your contacts. Have a Good Easter.
