Charles, can you send me one or two specific articles about white stuff appearing in people's veins while they are alive. I was told a few days ago one of my younger brothers was rushed to hospital when it appeared his veins were full with white stuff. He had taken the jabs. This seems very similar to the stories of dead people having white stuff in their veins and the undertakers being unable to inject things in to prepare the bodies for the funerals. Only it now seems to be affecting living people as well. Thanks TONY CLARKE

The UK Parliament has brought back the Assisted Dying Bill (Murder Bill) which ran out of time in the previous session. Those pushing the Bill are well funded and have a group called 'Dignity in Dying'. This was a comment made to the Times.
